LOCAL JOTTINGS

Strathmore Masonic Lodge are arranging to hold a special service in one of the local churches on June 25

It was with sincere regret that Strathmore received news of the death of Mr A. J. McArthur, member for this district in the Provincial Legislature, which occurred on Monday morning. Mr McArthur was well known throughout the district, and made many new friends during his campaign of the district. Mr P. Campbell, who holds the main chair in Strathmore Oddfellows' Lodge, is a nephew of the deceased gentleman

Mr McArthur's death will necessitate the holding of another elec ion in this district, but it will probably be some time in the fall before this takes place, as Premier Sifton is at present in England attending the Coronation, and the local House does not meet till November. Already, however, several names have been mentioned as probable candidates for the vacancy, those including Harry Scott, of Gleichen, and E. H. Riley, Mr McArthur's opponent at last election

The reason why more Gleichenites did not attend Monday's ball game here was that it had been raining heavily at Gleichen on the previous day, and they were afraid that the grounds would be too wet to play on. There was no rain here at all on Sunday, and consequently the grounds were in fine shape. It rained here all day Wednesday and part of Thursday, and the people here were afraid the Gleichen game would have to be called on account of the mud, but on phoning to Gleichen it was found that there had been no rain there since Sunday. So that it would seem that even the clerk of the weather has some regard for the Bow Valley baseball fixtures, and arranges the moisture accordingly

85 per cent of all headaches are the result of eyestrain Are you troubled that way? If so, consult S. L. Taube, of the Taube Optical Co., Calgary. He will be at Lambert's Drug Store, Strathmore, on Friday, June 23. 17-6-u

As will be seen seen from our advertising columns, Mr Geo. E. Delves will hold an auction sale of two carloads of high-grade dairy cattle at Strathmore on Friday, June 30 This will be a splendid opportunity for those who wish to start dairying or who wish to add to their present stock Mr Delves is at present away buying the cattle

The two following items, along with the report of the poultry association meeting, were left in the Post Office on Thursday, but for some unaccountable reason did not get into our box till Saturday afternoon :—

Mrs A. R. Yates and Mrs F. H. Blackbourne of Gleichen visited Mrs J. A. McDonald on Tuesday of this week

Mrs J. A. McDonald left on Thursday for a few weeks visit with her brother Dr McEwan of Carlstadt

The farmers will be pleased to hear that the Council are putting in a watering-trough beside the Fire Hall, also a number of hitching posts there. The hitching posts are all to be removed from Second Street

Geo. Thuars and Harry Paulson, of Great Falls, Montana, were in town Thursday

Capt. Bonnyman, of Langdon, was in town Wednesday. He has a piece of land near here which he is putting into crop this year

Bert Muckle was in from the Rosebud this week

Mr M. E. Sly, the official census taker for this District, is now engaged taking the Dominion Census

Remember the date of S. L. Taube's visit to Strathmore, and if your eyes trouble you in any way don't fail to consult him at Lambert's Drug Store on Friday, June 23 17-6-u

Mr Robt. West recently sent us in some samples of very fine potatoes, which he had grown last year. They tasted all right, too, when cooked

Mr and Mrs Knowles and Mr Hice, of Michigan, are at present visiting Mr and Mrs Costello at their prettily-situated home on the Serviceberry. The two former are parents of Mrs Costello, while Mr Hice is her uncle. They are delighted with the country, and expect to stay here for the summer

John McIsaac, who was transferred from the Strathmore Nursing Home to the Holy Cross Hospital, Calgary, last week, after having been in the former place seven weeks, desires to thank the public of Strathmore for the kindness and generosity shown to him during his illness in Strathmore

A second hotel license was granted in Bassano last Thursday by the License Commissioners sitting in Calgary. The successful applicant is Thos. H. Hunter, a resident of Bassano. The new hotel will be a modern and up-to-date building, with 50 rooms

Mr Jackson has finished the contract for the grading of the new C.P.R. line to Standard, and his outfit has now moved to Castor

Mr D. B. Elliott's gas tractor arrived here this week, having been about six weeks on the road. The delay was caused by the engine having been shipped to Strathcona instead of here

Instructive addresses on the bettering of poultry conditions in the West were given at a meeting here on Wednesday evening under the auspices of the newly-formed Poultry Association. The speakers were Professor F. E. Elford, of Macdonald College, P.Q., and J. I. Brown, Montreal

Strathmore School has been made a centre for departmental Examinations for Standards 5 and 6. There are nine pupils in Strathmore going in for this examination

Messrs Martin & Evans have received repeated requests from a number of their customers to open their ice-cream parlors for business on Sundays during the summer months, and in response they beg to announce that this section of their business will be open to the public at 2 p.m. on each Sunday during the warm weather, from and including June 18

Mrs Jas. McKeen, of Fredericton, N.B., arrived here this week to look after her daughter, Mrs J. H. Martin, who is still confined to her bed

PREPARING A PLACE FOR HIS BETHROTHED

Long Engagement About to Be Consummated

Boston, May 28.—Pastor Russell preached twice here today. He had large and intellectual audiences as usual. We report one of his discourses from the text, "I go to prepare a place for you: * * * and I will come again and receive you unto myself, that where I am there ye may be also" (John xiv, 2, 3). The speaker said:

Doubtless we have all in mind the fact that we have just passed the anniversary of our Redeemer's ascension to the right hand of the Father—to the highest place in all the Universe, next to the Almighty Father He ascended where He was before—to the spirit plane of being, with infinite excellence of glory and honor as the reward of His faithfulness and obedience to the Father's will, even to the sacrificing of His flesh at Calvary. He ascended, the Scriptures declare, from the more humble condition of human nature, to be higher than the angels, to the exalted condition of the divine nature—far above angels, principalities and powers and every name that is named.

The work for which the Father left the heavenly glory has not yet been accomplished. He has entered, "The Just for the unjust, giving His life a Ransom-price for all; but this was merely a means toward an end, and that end has not yet been accomplished—the blessing of Adam and all his fallen race. Thank God, however, that the great, broad foundation has been laid. Thanks be to God also that a great preliminary work has been in progress during more than eighteen centuries since His ascension. That preliminary work is the preparation of the Church of Christ to follow Him in faithfulness and self-sacrifice to exaltation with Him to the divine nature, glory honor and immortality, which was His reward (II. Peter i, 4).

If, in times past, we have too carelessly studied our Bibles and confused God's special blessing for the Church, as the Bride of Christ, with His subsequent blessing for the world through Messiah and His Bride, let us do so no longer. Let us note that as the Divine Plan for the salvation of the world could not begin before the coming of Jesus, except in a typical sense, neither can it begin to operate until the complete selection of the Church be effected and perfecting as the "Bride, the Lamb's Wife," in the First or Chief Resurrection.

The antitypical sacrifices which Jesus began still continue to be offered by Him. Those desirous of becoming His Bride and joint-heirs with Him in His Kingdom are now qualifying for that exaltation. The invitation to them is that, renouncing sin and accepting the Saviour they shall "present their bodies living sacrifices, holy and acceptable to God"—following in the footsteps of their Redeemer.

In a certain sense this presentation of the entire Church has been representatively, in the Apostles and others of the five hundred brethren who believed at the first. These were representatives of the entire Church, and the acceptance of their sacrificing sacrifices, holy and acceptable to God"—following in the footsteps of their Redeemer.

In a certain sense this presentation of the entire Church has been representatively, in the Apostles and others of the five hundred brethren who believed at the first. These were representatives of the entire Church, and the acceptance of their sacrificing sacrifices, holy and acceptable to God, and their begetting of the Holy Spirit, their espousal at Pentecost, representing the acceptance and begetting and espousal of the entire Church from then until now are not merely following in their steps; we are merely under-members in the same Body—The Church of the Firstborns, whose names are written in heaven" (Hebrews xii, 23).

St. Paul distinctly points out that the Church is not yet the Bride of Christ, but merely espoused. He writes, "I have espoused you as a chaste virgin unto one Husband, which is Christ." The period of espousal will not be complete until the close of this Age, when the full number of the Body shall have been accepted, and when the First or Chief Resurrection (to the spirit plane) shall have been accomplished—the marriage or complete union between Christ and His Bride in the heavenly glory.

As the Redeemer was the first to ascend to the glorious station of the divine nature, far above angels, principalities and powers, and as the Church is to be His associate in that glory, it was necessary that He should precede her to prepare the way. Our Lord's own ascension of exaltation to the divine nature was witnessed by the Father in that He raised Him from the dead by the Holy Spirit, to glory, honor and immortality.

But before the Church could, in any sense of the word, be made acceptable in the heavenly courts, it was necessary that the Redeemer should "appear in the presence of God for us" (Hebrews ix, 24). It was necessary that He make application or imputation of the merit of His sacrifice on behalf of the Church before their sacrifices could be "holy and acceptable unto God"; and only by their sacrifices and the Divine acceptance of them could they be begotten of the Holy Spirit to the new nature, the divine nature, which they will fully receive, if faithful, in the chief resurrection.

What force we thus see is attached to the Master's words, "I go to prepare a place for you." Unless He had thus prepared the way, unless He had become our Surety, we could never have become acceptable in the Father's sight, and the Redeemer's associates on the spirit plane. But there is still another sense in which the Redeemer is preparing for His Church. H. I. Others, He has, as their great High Priest, not only opened up the way to God but He continues to be their Intercessor and to appropriate to them of His merit to cover their continual trespasses and short-comings, which are the result, not of willfulness, but of weakness and ignorance. Shortcomings against which they strive, but by which at times they are overtaken—and of omission and of commission.

How precious to every child of God are the words of the Apostle, "If we sin we have an Advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the Righteous." Let us, therefore, come with courage to the Throne of heavenly grace that we may obtain mercy and find grace to help in every time of need, for we have an High Priest who can be touched with the feeling of our infirmities, having been tempted in all points like as we of the new creation are tempted (1. John ii, 1, 2; Hebrews iv, 15, 16).

There appears to be a disposition on the part of many to deny that there will be a second advent of the Redeemer. These reason that as it has not occurred in more than eighteen centuries it should cease to be expected. They endeavor to find the fulfilment, the promised second coming of the Saviour, in the Pentecostal blessing. But this cannot satisfy those who have implicit trust in the Lord, and who believe that the Apostles were his specially appointed witnesses, for did not the disciples long after Pentecost, tell of the second coming of the Lord, and did not the Lord Himself in the last book of the Bible declare His coming and His marriage to the Church, His acceptance of her and the giving to her a share in His glory?

The erroneous thought that Jesus is still a man and that His second coming will be as a man in glory and power, has done much injury to the Church. It has turned the attention of some to looking for and expecting Messiah's Empire to be purely an earthly one. It has led many to disdeny the second coming and the Kingdom entirely. The proper view of our Lord's ascension to the glory of the divine nature and honor next to the Father, never more to return to earthly conditions, lifts us above the difficulties mentioned.

We now see that the One who will come in power and great glory will be a Spirit being wholly invisible to mankind, but nevertheless the very same Ego, who was once amongst men; the same Ego or personality who previously was with the Father on the spirit plane, and who humbled Himself to man's estate in order that He might accomplish a work of redemption for Adam and his race. The Redeemer says of Himself, "I am He who was dead, and behold I am alive forevermore." And He who was dead, was He not the same One who previously was rich and for our sakes became poor? Can we not, therefore, hold closely to the distinctions of nature, and yet see through the two changes the maintenance of the original personality?

The angels who appeared to the Apostles when the Master vanished from their sight declared that He would come in like manner as He went away. Did He go in a body of glory witnessed by the whole world of mankind? No. Neither will He so come. Did he go amidst great convulsions and the blast of trumpets? Neither will He so come. Was His departure seen and known throughout the world? No. Neither will His arrival be seen and known; as He declared, He will come as a thief in the night and the day abroad overtake you as a thief" (I. Thessalonians v, 4).

The day of revealment will come, but it will be after the Bride class, the Church, is made ready. The real scene of great blessing to Emmanuel's government will also away. The world's curse will have come and gone, as a great sun of Righteousness arising. Also Satan's kingdom will have been bound with the cords of the knowledge of the goodness of God and with His blessing. "Satan, mighty rich and adderlike in subtle cunning, ignorance, superstition, arts and deceit will flee away before the light of that New Dispensation, and only those who resist it willingly will be smitten with the Second Death.

The great heavenly King and His Bride will rule His subjects with a rod of iron, which will break in pieces and destroy institutions contrary to the Golden Rule, but under which the nations belongs to the Redeemer and will be shared, as promised, with His Church. That Brief, before that manifestation of the Kingdom in power and glory and with flaming fire, will be unto the Master's parousia, or secret presence, unknown to the worldly-known only to the "watchers"—to the saints, through their understanding of the Divine prophecies, by which the eyes of understanding will be opened.

In the harvest time He will be present to gather the wheat into His garner, through the change of the Church from the earthly to the heavenly plane, in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye because "flesh and blood cannot inherit the Kingdom of God." During this period of parousia, preceding the outward manifestation to the world as Heavenly Lord, invisible to men still judge amongst those who have ordained to be His servants—determining which may enter into the kingdom glory, because they have proved fit to share with Him in the sacrifice and shaming of the present time. That this is the time also is particularly indicated in two of our Lord's parables relating to the pounds and the talents given to His servants—then He took His departure. In His absence He left with each of His servants, rewarding the faithful with a share with Him in His Kingdom, say the Lord, "Well done, good and faithful servant, thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things; enter thou into the joys of thy Lord — have thou dominion over ten cities, over five cities etc. (Matthew xxv, 21; Luke xix, 24-26). Referring to the Master's change of the saints, will be the marriage or union with their glorious Head, and the bridegroom, Messiah, whose purposing to be of the Bride. It will make Lordship over the nations, each other in preparation for the glorious consummation of their most wonderful hopes.

The Master said, "My word shall judge you in the last day." Happy was it been for the few who have heard the Master's Word in this present life, and have judged themselves thereby, and submitted themselves to His righteous principles! Those blessed ones will share with Messiah the glories of His Spiritual Empire, invisible to men, but during the Thousand-Year-Judgment Day of the world (II. Peter iii, 7, 6) the same words—"the wonderful words of life" to those who will obey and words of death to those who will refuse obedience—will be the standards of justice for all mankind.

This judgment of the world will not be merely or those living at the time of the establishment of the Kingdom, but will include all that are in their graves (John v, 28). As all are condemned through one man's disobedience, so the redemption for all will be accomplished through the obedience of One, which will secure to each and all an opportunity for eternal life, either on the spirit plane, during the Gospel Age, or on the earthly plane of Paradise restored, during Messiah's reign.

The judgment of the Church is not according to works, the perfection of which, under prevailing conditions, would be impossible, hence, the Church's reckoning is according to faith and the obedience of faith possible. But the world's judgment will be according to works, for the knowledge then will be so great that faith will no longer be a premium. The great Mediator will accept of imperfect works according to the ability of the people, but as they rise out of degradation, more and more will be required of them, until in the end they will be perfected and absolute perfection of works will be required.

Then death and the grave will be swallowed up in the antitypical gehenna representing the Second Death"—and all not worthy of recognition in the Book of Life will be destroyed from amongst the people (Revelation xx, 12-15; Acts iii, 23).

But, thank God, this irremediable destruction of the Second Death will come only upon willful evil-doers of the class mentioned in this text—those reproved and yet stiff-necked. Some of the Church might be classed in this category because of previous enlightenment, etc., enjoyed, but surely the world in general has no place for such reproofs and such an intelligent understanding of the Lord as would make them properly amenable to the Second Death. And God purposes that every member of Adam's race must have this one full, complete privilege and opportunity for eternal life before he can be sentenced to the Second Death.

The Gentle Bruin.

If the prophecy of the lion lying down with the lamb has not yet been fulfilled, a bear that lay down with sheep has just been seen by Snell in a similar way. The two-year-old regimental pet bear of the King's Royal Rifles at Sandringham, England, is confined in a big box in the drill hall of the camp as a punishment for its 20 hours escape from captivity. Escaping from its cage, the bear had a day of wonderful adventures. First it scampered across the grass towards Chertton. Then, frightened at being by the numerous people, it tore into some woods and climbed a few trees. Meanwhile, all the King's Royal Rifles, noticing its escape, were all loading for their nearest. Others had motor-cars, and some of the men had guns. For miles around they they searched, but could find no black rain. Which could probably see them through the bushes. Nothing if a chance, it ran at length until it came to Fern Farm, where close by some sheep were grazing. At the approach of a dog the sheep would have run away, but, strangely enough they were not frightened, and the bear came ambling up, possibly mistaking it for a companion. Then the farm is barely half a mile from the camp, and it was quite late in the evening that the bear was discovered. It was found sniffing round a rick and two sheep were sleeping close beside it. When it saw its captors with a box it rushed off in it and was carried back to camp.

Oratory In Australia.

It would appear from what Sir George Reid has said that the taste of Australians in the matter of public speeches that they like pretty much the same kind of public speech as Canadians do. Sir George advised Lord Dennman, who is going out to Australia as Governor-General, to give up the "cold, rigid, calculating style of speaking that obtains in the House of Lords," and impart more life, warmth, and enthusiasm into his addresses. Lord Denman reprietly replied that he feared he could not do it. "Then," said Sir George, "the people have an intense love of amusement, and will flock before a speaker who is going to think he will show some humor before he quits."

"Pretty frequently the interruptions by members of the audience are extremely clever, and the speaker has to decide quickly whether he can find a better retort or pretend not to hear. I well remember an interruption which caused me much momentary perturbation. I was getting out of the humorous into a very sad vein of thought (I was touching the close of my public career in Australia), and I was referring to the time when I should be raised to that bourne whence no traveler returns, when a voice rang from the back of the audience: 'By Jove, George, the fat will be in the fire then.' The subtle allusion to my good eighteen stones of avoirdupois. My only safety lay in joining heartily in the general laugh."

A Duchess' Palace.

It was to the Duchess of Sutherland, the hostess of Stafford House, that Queen Victoria is reported to have said: "I have come to your house to see you in your palace." And Stafford House the magnificent is to be closely associated with the coronation festivities. On the night of June 22nd a ball is to be given by the Duchess, and on the following night after the coronation, the duchess will give a ball to be attended by the German Crown Prince and Princess and all the royal and distinguished guests in London at the time. The ball is in honor of the debut of Lady Eleanor Leveson Gower, the only daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Sutherland.

Java.

Java is an island in the Malay archipelago, the richest spot of the Dutch power of the east and after Sumatra and Borneo the largest of the Sunda group. It is 600 miles long and from 120 miles broad and has a population of about 30,000,000. The chief articles of export include sugar, coffee, tea, rice and tobacco.

Japan's most expert wrestlers are men who have inherited their ability from ancestors who have made wrestling a profession for generations.

Quaint Ritual of Coronation

Entire Ceremony of Crowning of King and Queen Is Symbolic of a Wedding to the British Nation.

Some of the Emblems Are Old and Have Strange Legends Associated With Them.

On June 22nd King George V. will be crowned in Westminster Abbey with all the quaint rites and elaborate ceremonials which, with the exception of certain minor alterations, have been religiously observed at the coronation of every sovereign in England since the time of William the Conqueror. The ceremony is more splendid, elaborate, and emblematic than in any other country of Europe. Every day for many weeks past the London newspapers have recorded the progress of the preparations for the supreme event, and announced fresh additions to the round of brilliant functions which will make London—usually sober and absorbed in business—the gayest capital in the world this coming midsummer.

Though the discontinuance of the banquet in Westminster Hall has robbed the coronation of some picturesque feudal customs, the ceremony in the Abbey has been most jealously guarded in every detail of its impressive ritual. From beginning to end it is intensely symbolic; the series of acts presenting the King in his triple capacity of priest, soldier and civil magistrate. Each article of the regalia symbolizes one or more of these functions, all being summed up in the crown itself—the round and top of sovereignty." The richly-jewelled sceptre with the dove recalls the peaceful days of Edward the Confessor the expulsion of the Danes, and the gloves are a reminder of his abolition of the Danegeld—a token that the King's hands should be moderate in the taking of taxes.

The coronation ring of pure gold, with its magnificent ruby surrounded by a St. George's cross, and surrounded by diamonds, typifies the marriage of the sovereign to his people and has been poetically called "England's wedding ring." The anointing with oil is traced back to the solitary grant of the first King of Israel. The ampulla, the vessel of pure gold in which the consecrated oil is contained, is in the shape of an eagle with outstretched wings, from which is poured out of its beak. The spoon into which it passes is also of pure richly gilt, and adorned on the handle with four large pearls. These two articles, it is interesting to note, are supposed to be the sole relics of the original regalia of England sold by the ruthless Cromwell at the time of the Civil War.

The existing specimens were made on the old models for the coronation of Charles II. The orb, or mound, or Mercy, is the principal one in dignity of the three which are carried unsheathed before the King. It has no point, its blunted blade being a token of mercy. The sword of Justice to the Spirituality, is pointed, but somewhat obtuse; and the sword of the State to the Temporality is pointed. The scabbards of all three are covered with a rich brocaded tissue of cloth and studded with gilt ornaments. The sword of State is a two-handed weapon, with a scabbard of crimson velvet, decorated with gold plates and the royal badges.

The orb, the symbol of dominion, which is placed in the King's hand immediately before the crowning, is a ball of gold six inches in diameter, surmounted by a fine amethyst, which forms the pedestal of a cross of gold studded with precious stones. The right of holding the orb is the sole prerogative of reigning kings and queens. It was adopted by the early Saxon sovereigns from the Roman emperors. An amusing story is told of the late Queen Victoria, who, it would seem, was not duly impressed by this great privilege. When Lord John Thynne, who was waiting for the Dean of Westminster at her coronation, presented the orb to the Queen, she asked: "What am I to do with it?" "Your Majesty is to carry it, if you please, in your hand." "Am I?" said the Queen, "it is very heavy."

Legend and mysticism surround more than one object used during the ancient ceremonial. The coronation ring, according to "Guillaume de Legend," was given by Edward the Confessor to a beggar who asked alms of him. The long aforesaid gave two English pilgrims in the Holy Land met an aged man who gave them that St. George's ring, bidding them to return it to the King and tell him that the supposed beggar was none other than St. George himself. Another quaint mediaeval story relates how the sword of state was miraculously delivered to Thomas Becket by the Virgin Mary. The object, however, to which most mystery and interest attach to the coronation stone, or "Stone of Destiny," on which the actual crowning takes place. It was brought to London in 1296 by Edward I., from Scone in Scotland, where the Scottish kings had been crowned upon it for generations. According to the legend, the stone is actually that on which the Patriarch Jacob pillowed his head at Bethel. It was conveyed to Egypt, from whence it was brought to Spain by Gaethelus, the founder of the Scottish nation, finding its way afterwards to Ireland, and eventually to the church at Scone. On its removal to Westminster Abbey, Edward had the present chair made to receive it, and dedicated it to the Confessor, and since then every English sovereign has been crowned in the historic seat, which is richly draped for the occasion.

The chair known as Queen Mary's chair, which was made for Mary II, and in which the third sovereign of that name is crowned, is said to be a close imitation of its ancient consort. On one occasion this royal seat was dumped by a Westminster schoolboy, who scooted himself over slight in the aisle, and scrambled to the back of it this brief record of his temerity. "P. Abbott slept in this chair, July, 1880."

The vestments which the King will put on after the ceremony of anointing will consist of: (1) The colobium sindonis, a simple lawn garment; (2) the supertunica or dalmatic, a long coat of cloth of gold, with wide sleeves; (3) the armilla, or ermine, a band of cloth of gold three inches wide, and (4) the imperial mantle or pall, resembling a cope, and fastening in front with a morse or clasp. King George will put on the royal purple mantle used by the late King, as was his first intention, having been given by Lord Ancaster, whose great-grandfather, Lord Gwydyr, was formerly Lord Great Chamberlain, the investment of singular beauty and richness of which the late King's coronation exceeded all others in magnificence and cost no less than $1,215,000. The royal mantle is of fine cloth of gold, and a beautiful example of the handloom industry of the Spitalfields weavers. Into its service are woven the badges of the three Orders of England, Scotland, and Ireland.

The interior will represent a herald hall, with its timbered roof supported by wooden pillars and arched beams, and its walls covered with tapestries and arms. The great carpet, which will stretch from the west door right up to the dais, or "theatre," on which the King will be enthroned after he has been crowned, is woven in two shades of blue, the foundation being of royal blue, on which are emblems of the noble orders and the initials "G. and M." destined for the crowning. The design is no less than 42 feet in length. On the "theatre" itself and in the aisles the Hundred Years' wax, its timber shafts often pierced the armor of the "mailed chivalry" and made the British yeoman more than a match for the French knight.

Nail Works for Calgary

Calgary.—This city is to have a nail works, which will be an off-shoot of the Gordon Nail Works of St. John. It was reputed as likely to be located at Lethbridge. Local capital is interested very largely and its establishment here is practically assured. The factory will have an output of 90,000 kegs a year, and from the start will employ one hundred men.

The curse of civilization is that it is gradually robbing us of our inconveniences.

Regular Attendant

As the new minister of the village was on his way to evening service he met a rising young man of the place whom he was anxious to have become a member of his church.

"Good evening, my young friend," he said, solemnly, "do you ever attend a place of worship?"

"Yes, indeed, sir; regularly every Sunday night," replied the young fellow, with a smile. "I'm on my way to see her now."—Metropolitan Magazine.

Sunshine

The house is but a shell,
Four walls and then a dome;
The heart and spirit there
Are things that make a home.
Not furniture and books,
Nor ornaments of art,
But just the sweet unselfishness
And sunshine of the heart.
—Baltimore Sun.

Rub It In For Lame Back—A brisk rub-bing with Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil will cure lame back. The skin will immediately absorb the oil and it will penetrate the tissues and bring speedy relief. Try it and be convinced. As the liniment sinks in the pain comes out and there are ample grounds for saying that its touch is magical, as it is.

With a Purpose

How To Do It

The tipping system will never become popular while the government of the day endorses it by paying handsome tribute to its masters. What the government should do is to put tipping on the list of offences for which a heavy penalty may be applied. Then, and only then, will it be.—Kingston Whig.

"It's in the world of politics," said the talkative man, "that the truth of the old saying, 'money talks,' is most frequently proven." "Yes," replied the wise citizen, "but it hush money would only talk what sensations we would have."

CATTLE PLENTIFUL.

Alberta Still Retains Her Ranching Features.

Alberta is a greater cattle country now than it ever was in the old ranching days. Surprising though it may seem, this statement is borne out by statistics which show that the province last year exported more beef than in any previous year in its history.

Once upon a time all that Alberta had in the way of industries was the fur trade, but the cattle industry became the mecca of cattle and horse ranchers, finally the ranchers were crowded out in most parts and the cry was raised that the ranching industry was killed.

In 1906 the ranchers of the province sold off their surplus stock and a general clean-up was observed throughout the cattle country. Men with great herds of cattle sold almost every hoof; other men with just as big herds cut down the number on their herds so as to be able to run them on their restricted ranges.

The homesteaders came in and taken up the ranch country, he had broken the ground and planted wheat, he had brought a few cows. The big ranchers declared the cattle industry was dead, the range was gone, the herds were gone, and the cattle could not be raised. In 1906 the ranchers made their big sale, 114,000 head in all. The ranches were swept clean of almost everything in cattle.

The two following years the cattle slaughter was low, the 1907 figure being 80,000 head in 1907. Then came 1909 when the homesteaders began to have something to burn off—manu-facts. The total of the cattle shipments of that year was 127,000 head, more than the big year when the ranges were cleaned up to 1906. But the increase did not stop in 1909. The small farmer's output was increasing and in 1910 the total shipments of cattle all told from the province of Alberta was 154,000 head.

It is declared by those who thoroughly understand the cattle business that it is not how many head of beef in the markets of the world, an even better grade than those that were fattened on the ranges by the big ranchers. In the old days a best steer was that which was fat. In the fall he was in good shape and was turned off for sale. There was no grain feeding. Even the spring cattle that were sold were fattened simply on hay. But with the coming of the multiple method of improvement, was good beef and was desired on the markets. Only a small part of the cattle that are sold are from small farmers, men with a herd of ten or fifteen head to sell in a year. These animals are fed the winter around, they are taken off the grass in the fall and have a fine grade of Alberta beef is going up. It is no longer a question of small farmers are bringing more wealth to Alberta than the big cattle ranches, and the cattle industry, at any time four or five years ago pessimistically declared to be dead, has proved to be simply in an infant state of development with every prospect of becoming one of the big industries of the province, second only to the raising of grain.

The official figures for the live stock shipments and sales of Alberta since 1905 are:

1905—Cattle, 83,000; horses, 12,000; sheep, 40,000; hogs, 34,000; export beef, 49,000.

1906—Cattle, 127,000; horses, 20,000; sheep, 40,000; hogs, 39,000; export beef, 74,000.

1907—Cattle, 80,000; horses, 13,000; sheep, 28,000; hogs, 29,000; export beef, 42,000.

1908—Cattle, 98,0(0; horses, 13,000; sheep, 37,000; hogs, 48,000; export beef, 61,000.

1909—Cattle, '27,999; horses, 20,000; sheep, 37,000; hogs, 60,000; export beef, 67,000.

1910—Cattle, 154,000; horses, 25,000; sheep, 60,000; hogs, 50,000; export beef, 92,000.

The Worthy Scout.

The Boy Scout movement has been taken up with much enthusiasm in Ontario, and is receiving the approval of many good citizens. One of the excellent features of the Boy Scout's program is that he shall perform at least one kind act during the day. A lady, whose small son, Harold, has lately been enrolled as a Scout, was surprised when he appeared at the breakfast table with a piece of white string tied around one of his coat buttons.

"What's that for, Harold?" she asked.

"To remind me to do a kind act to-day," he replied briefly.

Harold returned at noon without the white string adornment. He was somewhat reserved during the early moments of the meal, but when dessert appeared he became communicative.

"Well, I've done my kind act—helped an old man across the street," he informed the family. "He didn't kept from vulgar slang all morning. But after four I'm going to knock the tar out of Billy Gordon for calling me 'goody'."—Courier.

In a Class by Himself.

Mayor Hopewell, of Ottawa, is going to Coronation. He will be also many other Canadian mayors, but Mayor Hopewell hopes to rank in a class by himself because Ottawa is the mayor of the capital of Canada. This is a point that Toronto and Montreal are apt to forget sometimes, but the fact is incontrovertible nevertheless. Now, Mayor Hopewell can argue that if it is the custom to honor the Lord Mayor of London at coronation time because he happens to be Lord Mayor of the capital of Britain, there ought to be a similar hand-out for the mayors of the capitals of the other nations. This is ingenious as far as Mayor Hopewell is concerned, but it does not help Mayor Geary and Mayor Guerin.—Toronto Star Weekly.

OUTDOOR SPORT AND ZAM-BUK.

Every athlete, every ball player, every swimmer, every canoeist, every man or woman who loves outdoor life and exercise, should keep a box of Zam-Buk handy.

Zam-Buk is a purely herbal preparation, which as soon as applied to cuts, bruises, burns, sprains, blisters, etc., sets up highly beneficial reactions. First, its antiseptic properties render the wound free from all danger of blood poisoning. Next, its soothing properties relieve and ease the pain. Then its rich herbal balms penetrate the tissue, and set up the wonderful process of healing. Barbed wire scratches, insect stings, skin diseases, such as eczema, heat rashes, ringworm, babies' heat sores, chafed places, sore feet—all are quickly cured by Zam-Buk. It also eases and cures piles. All druggists and stores. Use Zam-Buk Soap, 25c. per tablet.

So rapidly is the commerce of St. John, N. B., increasing that additional harbor facilities are necessary and the government is to build expensive docks.

AN INVALUABLE MEDICINE

Mrs. W. Arnold, Edmonton, Alta., writes:—"Kindly send me a box of Baby's Own Tablets. They have been invaluable to me and I really do not know how I ever would have got along without them. Baby was poorly; his digestion was bad and he was constipated. I gave him the Tablets and they made a fine healthy boy of him. Now, whenever he is cross or troubled with constipation, I always give him the Tablets and they relieve him right away. I tried a lot of other medicines but nothing seemed to agree with him till I got the Tablets. I would not be without them." The testimony of Mrs. Arnold is that of thousands of other mothers. Everyone who ever uses Baby's Own Tablets have words of praise for them. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"To sweep dust over the feet of girl prevents her from getting a husband" runs an old superstition. A husband, pocketbook, however, does not work that way.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Mr. Walter Allward Has Had an Interesting Career.

No man of his age in the Dominion has had a more interesting career than Mr. Walter Allward, of Toronto, the foremost sculptor of English-speaking Canada. He was born in that city in 1875, and left the public school education began to study architecture at the age of fourteen. But carving and clay modeling came natural to him, and were his chief hobbies. He stayed four years in the architect's office, and then began in Mr. Allward's adventure in earnest. At that time he could not even study this art in a school, and, as a profession, it seemed to offer small opportunities. Mr. Allward, however, went on with his work undiscouraged. He couldn't go away to study—he had to earn a living. So he made busts and sold them and studied assiduously all the time, getting all the light possible on the methods of such French sculptors as Rodin and Paul Dubois. His first large work of note was the Northwest Rebellion monument in Queen's Park, Toronto. Then he produced the statues of Governor Simcoe and Sir John Moore. After his marriage, Mr. Allward spent some time in Europe, and ever since he has been constantly employed on larger and more important works. Such are the Boer War and South African memorial to the Canadian heroes of the South African War, which stands in University avenue, Toronto. Among his other now famous statues are the John Sandfield Macdonald monument in Queen's Park, Toronto, the Baldwin-Flood Davin memorial, in Beechwood Cemetery, Ottawa; the Baldwin-Lafontaine statue, in Parliament Hill, Ottawa, and the memorial to Dr. Bell, inventor of the telephone, at Brantford, Ont.

Mr. Allward's studio is on Walker avenue, Rosedale. When he begins a statue his first records his inspiration in a small figure of dark green wax. Then he makes another with more detail, in either wax or clay. If the design is to be submitted for approval still another figure is made—in the case of a single statue—of one-third or one-half life size. But if the work is a group a cast in plaster of Paris is arranged in the shape of a complete model. Weeks and months are spent in this preliminary work. Then, if his designs have been satisfactory, the monument is commenced. Now, whenever he is engaged on a large skeleton of iron and wood. Then it is boxed up and sent to the Dufferin Street Stone Yards. There are no bronze-casting works in Canada of the scale such work. He goes down to Providence, R.I., to inspect the casting. Then from Mr. Allward's studio the models

Among the Stores

Last week we said that business was good, and the same remark applies this week, for the weather continues to be of the kind that will ensure us a bumper crop this year

W. E. CUMMING

Jeweller, is still working up his trade in all lines of the business—clocks, watches, silverware, phonographs, etc. June is the marrying month, and those who wish to present to those of their friends who have joined the great majority, should cestainly pay him a visit

C. W. CHASE

The local "wire man," who recently opened a new store on Third Street, is reaping the reward of his enterprise in a greatly increased volume of business. He is now, in addition to his ordinary business of fence supplies, etc., carrying a line of undertakers' supplies, and also paints and oils of the Model Bakery and Ice Cream Parlors, are doing an increasing business every day in the staple lines of breadstuffs, and their bread has attained a reputation far beyond Strathmore. With the opening of summer the ice-cream parlor is being given a very large patronage. They also handle cigars and tobaccos of all kinds, and every variety of confections

Messrs Martin & Evans are running a very original competition at present, particulars of which will be found in our advertising columns harness maker and boot repairer, finds that the wet weather means good business for him, as it brings numerous customers in with leaky footwear

PIONEER MEAT MARKET,

R. McCann, proprietor, is aptly named, for Mr McCann is one of the pioneers of the town, and he has always made his business keep pace with its growth. He is at present doing a very satisfactory amount of business

STRATHMORE MEAT MART AND PACKING COY.

Proprietors, Bremer & Swertfeger, are doing a very good business at the present time, and they are finding their new packing plant, for which they have set up machinery to the value of over $6000, to be a very useful extension of their present business. It is also a boon to the local farmer who raises hogs to have a market so close at hand, and there is no doubt that the hog bbsiness will increase greatly within the next two or three years

L. H. CARUPER,

Plumber, tinsmith, etc., is finding his business growing larger all the time, though when he started up here he had the field to himself, and now has competition. He recently had some big additions made to his premises, and now has as fine a workshop as could be found anywhere. He also handles a fine range of stoves, etc.

STRATHMORE HARDWARE COY.

of which Mr G. T. Berry is the proprietor, was formerly the hardware department of the Strathmore Trading Coy. The changing of proprietorship has in no way decreased the volume of business done, and in fact Mr Berry states that it is growing larger all the time. Mr Berry comes from Pincher Creek, which is a much older town than Strathmore, but he finds this a better business location. Everything in the hardware line will be found in his store

In succeeding issues we shall take notice of a number of other advertisers under the above or a similar heading

Baseball

We did not manage to pull off the first league game played on Monday, in our favor, only scoring 8 as against 11 piled up by the Gleichen aggregation.

The whole trouble lay with the Gleichen Pitcher. He was somewhat of an artist, and the game was lost before the batters could get on to his curves.

The first innings of the home team was rather a sad spectacle, for there were quite a number of errors while the Gleichenites were at bat, and the visitors got three ahead in the first innings, and they just managed to maintain the lead to the end of the game. In the second innings we got one run, while Gleichen did not manage to get any more to their score. No runs were added by either side in the third, but in the fourth Gleichen got two runs, and repeated in the fifth. We got two runs in the fifth, which helped to hearten the fans up. The next two innings the play was very even, and no runs were scored. The locals came away strong in the eighth and ninth innings, with two and three runs respectively, but it was too late, for Gleichen added another four to their score in the ninth.

There was a great deal of difference in the play of the two teams. Gleichen was poor in the out-field and at bat, but their pitcher and catcher redeemed the faults of the rest of the team. The Strathmore pitcher, Bried, hardly pitched as good a game as he did against Bassano the previous week, and was somewhat wild. Nevertheless he put in some good work, Bouton, at first base, was in good form, and made some very difficult catches, while Reg. Henry and Redford accounted for quite a few of the runs made. Several of the other members of the team did not work out as well as had been expected, but they doubtless will come better with a little practice.

Following is the score by innings.—

Umpires—O. J. Evans and J. Fleak

The crowd was the largest that has yet been seen on a ball field in Strathmore, and all were agreed that the game was worth watching, with few exceptions.

These few exceptions were people who had been hit in some part of their anatomy by the ball. There were quite a few accidents of this nature during the progress of the game, and some were very severely clouted. To try and stop a baseball with your ear or the back of your neck is foolishness.

STRATHMORE 4, GLEICHEN 4.

One of the best games ever witnessed in Gleichen was pulled off on Thursday evening, when the local team met the Strathmore boys for the second time this season. The closeness of the game may be seen from the score—4 all. A big crowd witnessed the game, which had to be called at the close of the 8th innings on account of darkness.

Bouton pitched for Strathmore, and played a very good game, as also did Wilson, who twirled for the Gleichenites. Strathmore got two runs in the first innings, and two in the fifth. Gleichen got one in the second, one in the fourth, and two in the fifth, and no runs were made after that. In the finish of the eighth it looked dangerous for Strathmore, for the Gleichenites with two men out, had one man on third base and one on fifth. Bouton, however, fanned the remaining battery, and saved our bacon.

The following were the run-scorers for Strathmore:—Bouton, Bried, Henry, L. Singleton.

Farmers' Union Formed at Nightingale

A meeting of the farmers of the Nightingale district was held at Nightingale on Monday, June 5th.

A resolution was passed by the meeting "that the farmers of the Nightingale district to form a branch of the United Farmers' Union of Alberta."

Mr. Worthington was elected chairman, and Mr. H. B. French, Secretary. Reference was made to the Nightingale question, and a committee consisting of Messrs. Waide, Campbell and Carleton was appointed to confer with the Strathmore committee on this matter. Notice was also given that a meeting was to be held on June 22nd with regard to a school for the district. Discussion also took place on the question of Hail Insurance and the meeting decided to support the Strathmore Hail Insurance.

The meeting was adjourned till Friday, June 16th, at 6.30 p.m., when it is hoped that all the farmers in the district will be able to attend and enrol themselves as members of the Union. The meeting will be held at Mr. Carleton's house.

That the Alberta Sugar Beet Company never intended to erect factories at Claresholm or High River, or any other point outside of the irrigation belt, was the information furnished by J. S. Dennis, president of the company, to a meeting of the Claresholm board of trade, on Tuesday evening.

The Round-Up

A Romance of Arizona

Novelized From Edmund Day's Melodrama of the Same Name

By JOHN MURRAY and MILLS MILLER

Copyright, 1916, by G. W. Dillingham Co.

There's a bunch of cowpunchers in this story it will do you good to meet, and for good measure there's Slim Hoover, sheriff whom nobody loves because he's a fat man. And there are other characters of the great southwest—women of charm and interest, desperadoes and soldiers—whose doings on the stage have called forth much favorable comment from the public and the critics. They are woven into a plot of dramatic interest, colored by characteristic actions and sayings of typical women and men of the land of the rattlesnake and the Gila monster, the long horned steer and the lowly, despised sheep. The incidents of the tale will hold you; the women and the men will attract you. They are different from those of other parts of the west, but all are ready for a fight or a frolic."

CHAPTER I.

DOWN an old trail in the Ghost range, in northwestern Mexico, just across the Arizona border, a mounted prospector wound his way, his horse carefully picking its steps among the broken granite blocks which had tumbled upon the ancient path from the mountain wall above. A horse followed laden heavily with pack, bed roll, pick, frying pan and battered coffeepot, yet stepping along sure footedly as the mountain sheep that first formed the trail ages ago and whose petrified hoof prints still remain to afford footing for the scarcely larger hoofs of the pack animal.

An awful stillness hung over the scene that was broken only by the click of hoofs of horse and burro upon the rocks and the clatter of the loose stones they dislodged that rolled and skipped down the mountain side. Not a breath of air was stirring and the sun blazed down from the vealth with such fierce and direct radiation that the wayfarer needed to look to observe the shadows to note its exact position in the heavens. Silence among the broken blocks and in banks along the ledges the cactus had burst under the heat, as it were, into the spontaneous combustion of flowery flame. To the traveler passing beside them their red blooms blazed with the tantalizing superfluity of a torchlight procession at noonday.

The trail leads down to a flat ledge which overlooks the desert and which is the observatory whither countless generations of mountain sheep have been wont to resort to survey the strange world beneath them, with what purpose and what feelings it remains for some imaginative writer of animal stories to inform us. From the ledge to the valley below the trail is free from obstructions and broader, more beaten and less devious than above, indicating that it has been formed by the generations of men toiling up from the valley to the natural watchtower on the brink of the mesa.

Reaching the ledge, the prospector found that what seemed from the edge above to be an irregular pile of large boulders was an artificial fortification, the highest wall being toward the mountains. Entering the inclosure, the prospector dismounted, relieved his horse of its saddle and his burro of its pack and proceeded to prepare his midday meal. Looking for the best place where he might light a fire, he observed in the most protected corner a flat stone marked by fire and near it in the rocky ground a pothole, evidently formed for grinding maize. The ashes of ancient fires were scattered about, and in cleaning them off his new found hearth the man discovered a potsherd, apparently of a native urn or water jar, and a chipped fragment of flint too small to indicate whether it had formed part of an Indian arrowhead or had dropped from an old flintlock musket.

"Lucky strike!" observed the prospector. "I was down in the right patch." And, gathering some mesquite brush for fuel and rubbing a dead branch into tinder, he drew out a knife and, rapidly and repeatedly striking the back of its blade with the flint, produced a stream of sparks which fell on the tinder. Blowing the while, he started a flame. When the fire was ready the man selected a cactus stem. "Precious little drink left," he said. "I wish that potsherd carried water as the flint chip does fire. However, there's lots of cactus around here, and they're natural water jars. My knife may get me a drink out of the desert's thorns as well as kindle a fire from its stones. And right here's my watermelon, the biggest the first one I've found in months!" he exclaimed, going over to the edge of the cliff above the level of which peered the fat head of a cactus covered with spines that are ridged with a fishhook. Its short taproot was fixed in a crevice a few feet below the parapet. Lying on the edge of the cliff the man sliced off the top of the cactus and began jabbing into its interbreathing flower. He opened fire on the watery cells, of which the top head-plant is almost entirely composed. In a few moments he called down:

"Now I can empty my canteen in the coffeepot, sure of a fresh supply of water by the time I am ready to mosey along."

He filled the pot, set it on the fire and then pressed the uncorked empty canteen down into the mucilaged interior of the bisnaga.

While his coffee was boiling the prospector continued his examination of the fortification, beginning, in the manner of his kind, with the more minute "signs" and ending with what to a tourist would have been the first and only subject of observation—the view. On the inner side of the large boulder in the wall he discerned the faint outline of a cross painted with red ocher.

Scraping with his pick beneath the rock to see if the emblem was the sign of hidden treasure or relic, he unearthed a rattlesnake. Before it could strike with a quick fling of the tool he sent the reptile whirling high in the air to ward the precipice. But from the clump of cactus growth along the parapet arose a sahuaro, with branching arms and against this the snake was flung. Wrapped around the thorny top by the momentum of the cast, it hung, musing and rattling with pain and resentment.

The prospector looked up at the impaled rattlesnake with a smile. Item inlsecences of Sunday school dashed across his mind.

"Gee, I'm a regular Moses!" he ejaculated. "First I bring water from the face of the rock, and then I lift up the serpent in the wilderness. The year I've spent in the mountains and desert seemed a long time to me, and not the last I have a sight of the promised land. God, what a magnificent view!"

Dropping his pick, he stretched out his arms with instinctive symbolization of the wide prospect and expression of an exile's yearning for his native land.

"Over there is God's country, sure enough," he continued, giving the trite phrase a reverential tone which he has not used in his first expression of the nature of Deity. "Thank heaven, I've left with Old Moses stops right here. Many a time I thought I would never get out of the mountains and started my grave would be unmarked by a much as a bowlder with a red cross upon it. But now before night I'll be back in the States and in three more days at home on the old ranch I promised to return in a year, and I'll make good to the hour. I sure did hate to leave that strike, though, after all the hard work I had been having. Sixty dollars a day and growing richer! But the last horn was blowing—no tobacco, six matches and nothing left of the bacon but rinds. Well, the gold is there, and the claim 'll bring whatever I choose to ask for it. And Echo shall have a home as good as Allen Hollands and a ranch as fine as Bar One. Yes, it'll be Bar None, my ranch!"

Out of the sea of molten air that stretched before him, that nebulous chaos of quivering bars and belts of heated atmosphere which remained above the desert as a memorial of the first stage of the entire planet's existence, the imagination of the prospector seemed to perceive the future. There took shape before his eyes a Mexican hacienda, larger and more beautiful even than that of Echo Felton, the beau ideal of a home to his limited fancy. And on the piazza in front, covered with flowering vines, there stood awaiting him the slender figure of a woman, with outstretched arms and dark eyes, tender with yearning love.

"Echo—Echo Allen!" he murmured, fondly repeating the name. "No, not Echo Allen, but Echo Lane, for Dick Lane has redeemed his promise and returns to claim you as his own."

As he gazed upon the shimmering heat waves which distorted and displaced the objects within and beneath the atmosphere of horsemen suddenly appeared to him in the distance and as suddenly vanished in thin air.

"Rurales!" ejaculated Lane. "I wonder if they are chasing Apaches. That infernal mirage gives you no idea of the number of troops which the red devils have got away from Crook and skipped by these greaser rangers—the finest trailers in the world. Here since we last I have a sight of the promised land. God, what a magnificent view!"

GRIM WAYS IN GUINEA.

Skulls in Every House, and Enemies Killed I.. War Are Eaten.

Walter Goodfellow, who led a British expedition into Central New Guinea, says of the very primitive people found there: "The natives wear no clothing, but this needs to be qualified in the case of widows in mourning. At such time a woman is very much covered up. She wears elaborate grass skirts, like a long mantle, and has a thing resembling a huge poke bonnet over her head. She also paints herself with yellow ocher. The native lives mourn for men, but not much for women. At the moment of death a great wailing or screaming is set up, and everybody covers himself with mud. The dead are always buried in the morning about an hour before daylight. During the night the whole village evidently sit up wailing. One would start off in a quavering voice high above all other voices, and they would keep this up for hours and hours. The rings of wailing song which they chanted was most impressive during the silence of the night, and the tap-tap-tap of the tomtom accompanying it added to the effect. About an hour before sunrise they would take the body off to bury it, and one heard this wailing with the regular tap-tap-tap of the tomtom gradually dying away in the distance.

"On battle they preserved the skulls of their relatives. Dr. Wollaston and I went down another river and visited a very large village where we desired to collect some skulls. It was always a difficult matter to induce the natives to trade at first, but after the first shyness had worn off we found the natives only too ready to sell the skulls they had. One woman brought out the skull of a child and talked well to it to us. Presently the whole village street looked like a Golgotha, all the people having put the skulls they owned outside their huts. They did not ask us to buy them, but they evidently hoped we would do so. Every house had three or four skulls set out in front of it. Another time a man brought the skull of his young wife to sell. It struck me as being a particularly gruesome sight, because he stood there for a long time with the skull under his arm.

"The natives seem to attach no importance to the lives of the women. I've gone as a passenger in a 'dug-out' and rescued her. We got her on the bank, where she lay for some time before she was sufficiently recovered to get up and crawl away to the village. I could give many examples to show that this is not an isolated instance of cruelty. Cannibalism is not practiced by the Minaka people as a general custom, but enemies killed in warfare are eaten."

New Theory of Mule's Kick.

Prof. Wilhelm Kolle of the Royal College of Surgeons, says that long continued painful emotion in a mule, such as fear or anger, is transformed into actual, if temporary, paralysis. This phenomenon, the theory of which is publicly backed up by Dr. R. Cunyngham Brown of the Isle of Wight.

These two investigators, who are prominent members of the British Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, assert that what is commonly regarded as a "vicious kick" by a mule is simply a sort of cataleptic state into which the animal has accidentally fallen through fright or indigestion. The beast does not balk intentionally, and fired by the spur, and the like it so often delivers when in this unfortunate and regretful condition often to die when whoever gets in the way into a state of paralysis or catalepsy.

Gentle treatment, kind words, perhaps a bit of sugar, are the best ways for restoring a distracted and irresponsible mule to its normal state. "Balking" mules, says the same learned investigators, are as a rule not sulking at all, but are merely scared out of the voluntary use of their muscles.

House Numbers.

Before the advent of the house number, each business sign consisted of three, and house names marked the different buildings. Then, in London, for instance, one had to look for Mr. Jones, should he desire to call upon that man, in the "Witchapel, not far from the Blue Boar."

It is thought Berlin, in 1795, was the first city to adopt the numbering system. The German innovators did not put odd numbers on one side of their streets and even numbers on the other; they merely started from the Brandenburg Gate, and numbered straight ahead, taking no account of change of street.

As they proceeded, therefore, the numbers grew higher, the height to which they ascended being limited only by the supply of houses. The first house they numbered was "one," for one, the last in number that beckoned the total number of houses in the city.

Matrimony Declining In Scotland.

Marriages registered in Scotland during 1910 numbered 30,866; 744 more than were registered during the previous year, but 1,111 fewer than the average number registered during the previous five years, and 1,111 fewer than the average number during the preceding 10 years. The marriage rate of the year 6.6 to 1,000 is 0.6 above that of the previous year, but 0.62 less than the average annual rates of the preceding five years and 0.6 less than the mean of the rates of the preceding 10 years.

JUST ONE CURE FOR ANAEMIA

IT IS THROUGH THE RICH, RED BLOOD DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS ACTUALLY MAKE.

There is just one cure for anaemia —more rich, red blood. Anaemia is simply a bloodless, run down condition. Then the body becomes weak from overwork, worry or illness, and nourishment of the blood will show it to be weak and watery. The common symptoms are paleness of the face, frequent headaches, shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart after the slightest exertion, dull eyes and a loss of appetite. Anaemia itself is a dangerous trouble and may pass into consumption. It can only be cured by making the blood rich and red, thereby enabling it to carry the necessary nourishment to every part of the body.

It is proved fact that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured thousands and thousands of cases of anaemia. They are really intended to make new, rich blood and are compounded for that purpose, together with the finest ingredients for the purpose that medical science knows. These Pills are not a cure-all. They are intended to cure only those diseases that arise from poor, thin, poverty blood, and starved, weakened nerves. The record of their success in doing this is their constantly increasing popularity in every part of the world.

Mrs. R. Colton, Golden, B.C., says: "As a matter of duty I wish to say a word in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for what they have done for my daughter, who is now in the other 18 years of age. Both were pale and bloodless and suffered from many of the symptoms of anaemia. They would tire easily, suffered from frequent headaches, were easily discouraged, and often fretful. I saw, in our home paper the story of a young girl who had similarly suffered and was cured through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I sent three boxes of the Pills and my daughters started in to use them. Before they were done they began to feel better and look better, and I got a half dozen more boxes, and by the time these were used, they were enjoying as good health as anyone could wish, and not like the same girls at all. I also gave the Pills to my little boy who had been ailing, and they completely cured him."

You can get Medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Eczema Wore in the Spring

The Blood is Watery—Difficult to Get the Healing Process Started.

But Whatever the Cause You Can Relieve the Itching and Heal the Sores With

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

Salt rheum and eczema are usually worse at this time of year because of the sudden change of temperature and the watery condition of the blood.

It is not necessary to refer to the suffering caused from the intense itching nor to the tendency of these ailments to spread over the entire body. The essential point is how to stop the itching, how to get the sores healed and stimulates the process of healing.

Because other treatments have failed, you may not feel discouraged. But in Dr. Chase's Ointment there is a cure for you. Read the many letters of the reports we have received from so many thousands of cases.

For instance there is the cure of Mrs. Nettie Massey of Conscon, Ont., who had eczema or chronic eczema so bad that almost the whole body was covered with sores, and three doctors failed to cure her. One doctor said she could never be cured. Write to Mrs. Massey about her case.

FOOD COLORS.

If You Like Brown Victuals You Are a Person of Refinement!

An extraordinary food theory has been brought forward by Dr. S. Goodall, lecturer to the Middlesex Hospital Medical School. He declares that when you enter a restaurant and select a chocolate-colored food you unconsciously show yourself a man of taste and refinement; but if, on the contrary, you show a partiality for yellow-colored foods, your taste is most probably low and vulgar.

Dr. Goodall, in explaining his strange theory, says that he first made experiments with animals. "A cat, for instance," he says, "is very much influenced by the color of its food. In one experiment I placed a number of pieces of meat, each tinted a different color, before a cat. The animal looked at each piece carefully and then selected the red-colored meat. Dogs, on the other hand, do not appear to use their visual sense like cats. If the food smells all right a dog will eat anything.

"Human beings are very sensitive as to the color of their food. By making inquiries among caterers I found that chocolate-colored foods are by far the most popular among the educated classes. The poorer classes have a liking for yellow. One of the results of this may be that they think such foods are richer than others."

Pink is by far the most popular color with children. If a child is offered two choices of a pink and a yellow sweet, the pink variety will invariably be selected. Curiously enough, however, foods artistically colored green appear to be avoided by all.

Dr. G. Macaulay Mackenzie, the well-known dietetic specialist, upholds the view that environment are largely influenced in their appetites by the color of the foods which are brought before them.

"Certain colors," he says, "stimulate the appetite and digestion, while others have the reverse effect. White foods, such as white fish, are stimulating to the appetite.

"Personally, my appetite has often been stimulated by certain colors. I have entered a restaurant with very feeble appetite and ordered a steak. The steak has come up a crisp, red dish, chocolate-brown in color. I took it in, and immediately began to feel hungry. Brown baked potatoes have also this effect on me.

"It is my theory that brown and blue are not conducive to a healthy appetite, and to sit down to dinner to a green-papered room a ten degrees one's desire for food at all."

The Fate of "Charlie Beresford."

Mr. George Leyton, the popular actor-vocalist, who recently performed the King to grant the Crimean and Indian Mutiny veterans a special view of the coronation procession, has been instrumental in causing something like £25,000 to be distributed amongst the old soldiers. His philantropic efforts are warmly supported amongst others by Lord Charles Beresford, who also takes a great interest in his friends. He told Mr. Leyton the other day of an amusing experience which befell him recently at the hands of some small patrols. The Portsmouth corps was founded by Lord Charles, who lately found a difficulty to get their ideas regarding scouting. Driving over the Portsmouth hills, where the patrols were engaged in their manoeuvres, his motor-car was smartly confronted by three youths, who exclaimed in chorus, "We take you prisoner, Lord Charles!" "Well, what are you going to do with me, now that you have got me?" inquired the distinguished campaigner. "Shoot you at once, after which one of the lads replied, in a grave tone, "If'm! Well, I'm afraid you've come a-cropper, I suspects we shall shoot yer, sir!"

How Cloves Grow.

Cloves are the unexpanded flower buds of a beautiful evergreen tree which grows only in tropical countries. The buds are at first a pale color and gradually become green, after which they develop into a bright red, when they are ready for collecting.

During the drying process they are exposed to the smoke of a wood fire and then to the action of the sun, which accounts for their dark brown color when ready for the market.

The clove tree, which attains a height of 30 feet, is a native of a small group of islands in the Indian archipelago called the Spice Islands, but in the last four centuries it has been carried to all the warmer parts of the world.

Cloves were one of the principal articles of trade which attracted the cupidity of western commerce communities having been the source of rich and lucrative trade since the early part of the Christian era.

Only Enough For One.

Sheridan was once staying at the house of an elderly female lady in the country, who wanted more of his company than he was willing to give. She proposed one day to take a stroll with him, he excused himself on account of the unsettled state of the weather. Shortly afterward she met him strolling out alone.

"Why, Mr. Sheridan," said she, "it has cleared up."

HE'S A CONVERT TO A GROWING BELIEF

THAT DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS ARE THE SURE CURE FOR KIDNEY DISEASE

Mr. Renie Moulaison was treated by two doctors, but found his relief and cure in six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Surette Island, Yarmouth, N.S. (Special)—Renie Moulaison, a fisherman of this place, is a convert to the growing belief that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the sure cure for Kidney Disease.

My trouble started with a cold," Mr. Moulaison states. "My backache would cramp, I had backache, I had dizzy spells. My head ached, I had a tired nervous feeling and little specks of light flashed in front of my eyes.

I suffered in this way for over two months and was treated by two doctors, but they didn't seem to be able to do much for me. Then I started to take Dodd's Kidney Pills and soon started to improve. I took six boxes in all and I am glad to say I am cured."

If you have any two or three of Mr. Moulaison's symptoms you may be sure your Kidneys are not in good working order. Bad Kidneys mean Backache, Rheumatism, Heart Disease or Bright's Disease unless attended to. The one sure way to cure them is to use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

HIRAM CARPENTER'S WONDERFUL CURE OF SKIN DISEASE

After 20 Years of Intense Suffering.

"I have been afflicted for twenty years with an obstinate skin disease, which local M. D.'s, psoriasis, and others leprosy, completely baffled all efforts to cure. I could do, with the help of the most skilful doctors, it slowly but surely extended until a year ago this winter it covered my entire person in the form of scales. For the last three years I have been unable to do any labor, and suffering intensely all the time. Every morning there would be nearly a dustpanful of scales shaken out of my clothes in bed, some of them half as large as the ordinary window pane. Finally I was induced to try Cuticura Remedies, and after I had used one set of Cuticura Soap and Ointment I felt relieved, almost, that could be called cured. I continued using them for about nine months, when I was entirely cured, and June I started West, in hopes I could reach Alaska, but was taken sick in Edmonton, and was so good. Although I had but a short time to live, I earnestly prayed to die. I packed things to start for home, but was across my ribs, arms, hands, limbs; feet badly swollen, and was cut off from the world, sick and hard as a stone; hair dead, dry and—as I thought—my days were few. Then I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and as part of a box of Cuticura in the house was thought I might as well try it. Why Cuticura Soap was applied on one hand and Resinol there was relief, and after the terrible burning sensation from the word go. THE GROWING TIME

POPULATION WILL BE MUCH GREATER THAN ANTICIPATED

Reports from Census Bureau Officials Indicates that the Population in Many Districts is Considerably Larger Than Was Expected—Great Increases in Population West of The Great Lakes.

Ottawa.—Canada's initial census taking, which began June 1, will take three years to complete. The tabulating and analysis of the population, figures of the extensive information asked for in regard to trade, industry, etc., will keep the census bureau busy for that length of time. The total population will not be definitely known until October, though an approximate figure may be given a month or so earlier.

The returns will begin to come in from the cities in about a fortnight's time, but the enumerators have three weeks' time allowed to collect their work and the commissioners are allowed another month in which to get forward return to Ottawa. The work of tabulation and compilation will be done at the census bureau here, by specially divided tabulating and compiling machines, similar to those used in Washington for the census of last year.

Charles W. Spicer, an official of the American census bureau who has been temporarily borrowed by the Canadian bureau, is now in Toronto superintending the manufacture of a number of machines to be used in tabulating the schedules turned in by the enumerators. Reports from census bureau officials who have been reviewing reports as to the enumerators' work required for the commissioners in the various parts of the Dominion, indicated that the population in many districts is considerably larger than was estimated. The final figures will probably show a population increase of about 50 per cent. during the decade. West of the Great Lakes it is estimated there are now about a million and a half more people than there were in 1901. Eastern Canada should show an increase of a little over a million and a quarter.

POTATO GROWING COMPETITION

Competition Open to Potato Growers of the Whole North American Continent

Calgary.—Among the premiums offered at the New York land and irrigation exposition in Madison Square Gardens, next November, is a $1,000 silver trophy cup, presented by Mr. Bidwell, which is open to the growers of potato growers of the whole North American continent.

Circular letters are being sent out by the Canadian Pacific Irrigation Colonization Co., to the secretaries of agriculture of each of the four Western provinces, and to the secretaries of agricultural societies in each province, outlining the possibilities.

The exhibit need not be from one grower only but from any society, province or district, which can show the best samples grown and enter them as one exhibit. In the awarding of the prize the following qualities will be considered: Smoothness, marketable quality, flesh, eyes, uniformity of size, and yield of each variety per acre, officially surveyed as sworn by the grower.

Since the competition is open to America, the value in advertising is very great.

ONE VICTORY FOR ROYAL BANK

In No Hurry About Hurrying the Alberta and Great Waterway Case Along

Edmonton.—Mr. Justice Beck, sitting in chambers, recently refused the application made on behalf of the province by Deputy Attorney General Clarry to have the Royal Bank case set down for hearing at the June sessions of the supreme court in Edmonton. Application was opposed by Mr. Frank Ford, K.C., representing the Alberta and Great Waterways railway and the Canada West Construction company on the ground that sufficient reason was given in the defence to the action filed by those defendants why the case should not be heard in chambers.

Justice Beck decided that such was the case so hearing of the action will stand over till sitting of the supreme court in September, unless the appeal is taken from the decision of Mr. Justice Beck at the June sittings of the court en banc in Calgary.

John Dillon May Die from Accident

Dublin.—John Dillon, Nationalist member for East Mayo, was dangerously injured about the head and back in an automobile accident near Dundalk. It was at first thought that Mr. Dillon was dying, and a priest was hastily summoned, who administered the last sacrament.

The injured man rallied, however, and was removed to Dundalk, where he now lies in a serious condition.

The auto dashed into a culvert, and Mr. Dillon was thrown through the glass wind shield.

Although his condition is serious, Mr. Dillon's own doctor, who was summoned from Dublin, hopes for his complete recovery, but will not permit the removal of the patient from Dundalk for several days.

Mr. Dillon suffered a severe concussion of the spine, which deprived him temporarily of power over his limbs. He also received a severe cut on the forehead, which required seven stitches.

Both Parties Hope for End of Strike

Coleman.—The conciliation board investigating the coal strike will resume this work this week. All of the members interested are either here or on the way.

There have been no developments since the board adjourned some weeks ago. Chairman Gordon has been in Ottawa since the board adjourned and it is expected and hoped by both parties that he has some suggestions for a solution.

Neither party has an inclination to yield very much, but both sides are very tired of existing conditions.

GENERAL H LEAVES FOR RUSSIA

Famous Calgary Trotter Purchased by Russian Government for Price Said to be $15,000.

Calgary, Alta.—A. W. Parish, of Cleveland, one of the best known horsemen of the Northern States, was the fastest trotting stallion in Canada and one of the grandest horses in all America. The General is over ten years of age, and is of the few living winners of the trotting Derby, the Charter Oaks. In September last Mr. Hagg piloted the local flyer to victory against the pick of the horses of the world. General H., was the largest winner in the world that year, when he cleared up a profit of over $15,000. Some speculation exists as to the value of the racer, but $15,000 looks about right.

Mr. Parish has taken the great racer to Russia in a specially fitted horse car. Several noted horses of world fame are in that country already.

NEW LINE TO MEDICINE HAT

It Will Run South of the Bow River and May Become the Main Line of the Road

Taber.—The new line of railway which will run east from Calgary to Medicine Hat along the south side of the Bow river, and that will serve a large territory at present not traversed by any railway, is now being located by the Canadian Pacific railway.

In charge of J. R. Paget, of the engineering department of this railway, a party of surveyors are at present working some thirty or forty miles south of Taber, carrying out the location of the new line.

From him it was learned that the C. P. R. have decided on a new route for their main line between Calgary and Medicine Hat because of the fact that a better grade can be secured south of the Bow river.

There is a large territory south of the Bow river, some 30 miles north of Taber, that is rapidly being settled up and that is not served with railway facilities. It the proposed C. P. R. new line is finally built settlers will get what they have been looking for for many years.

Wonderful Tuberculosis Cure

Montreal.—Montreal is to be the scene of a scientifically-equipped dispensary, in which the new cure for consumption, which has been used in scores throughout Europe will be tried as a means for combatting the white plague.

Dr. Roger Royon, son of the eminent Colonel Dupuy Doyon, of the Institute Deyen, of Paris, has arrived in Montreal, and will himself make the preliminary arrangements for experiments in the cure by which his father is to a great extent revolutionizing the treatment of tuberculosis in the civilized world. The name given to the discovery is "Mycolisine," which, the student, reveals that the fluid is a composition of the organic serums of colloidal and of the natural ferment.

Inside of two years more than one hundred experiments were made in France, Belgium, Holland and Switzerland, with 99 per cent. cures as the result.

This new dispensary will be free.

A Plot to Kill Madero.

El Paso, Tex.—A plot was discovered in Juarez to assassinate Madero. He was to be killed at a ball given there. When the plot was discovered enough dynamite was being carried into the ball room to blow up the entire building. About 500 people, including Madero and his wife were the principals and spectators of a grand march when about 11 o'clock the music was stopped at the entrance. Out of the man's pocket was pulled a large tin can, which was filled with dynamite and provided with a time fuse. The insurrecto police assert that had the dynamite exploded in the ball room no one would have escaped injury. The conspiracy is expressed by the Juarez authorities that the presence of the dynamite at the ball is only part of an elaborate conspiracy formed in Mexico City and other places by a political party opposed to Madero, and that further developments are expected. Madero has gone to Mexico City.

Party of Armenians Coming to B. C.

Vancouver, B. C.—Plans are under way for placing between 4,000 and 5,000 Armenians on land in British Columbia. It is announced by the party who proposes to stimulate this immigration that the Armenians in view are all Christians who have suffered persecution at the hands of the Turkish officials because of their religion. Armenian men are said to be principally agriculturists and it is understood the government has been approached to ascertain what its views are in respect to the project. Mr. Alderal Salkow, of Vancouver, is stated to be one of the principals in the promotion of the scheme to bring in these Armenian settlers. It is planned to embark them at Port Said on steamers operated by Alfred Holt & Co., a large British shipping firm, which runs a line of freighters between Liverpool and Vancouver.

Pleased with R.N.W.M.P. Contingent

Ottawa.—Col. White, comptroller of the R. N. W. M. P., has returned from Montreal where he was present at the departure of the Mounted Police contingent for the coronation. He expresses himself as well pleased with the appearance of the eighty men selected and speaks with pride of their good work in embarking with their horses and equipment within the short time of forty-five minutes.

Col. White states that the departure of the coronation contingent will in no way deplete the ranks of the police on active service. This is due to the loyalty of former members of the force, who volunteered to take the place of those going to England and have already reported for duty.

Big Procession, Over Mile Long.

London.—The details of the coronation procession are now sufficiently completed to show that it will be a splendid cavalcade, over a mile long. The representatives of the foreign countries will not ride in the procession, but will be accommodated with seats on the stands alongside the route. Crown Prince Gustave Adolph of Sweden, and the crown princess, have arrived in London for the coronation.

DOMINIONS TO HAVE VOICE IN IMPORTANT MATTERS

Opinion Endorsed that the Dominions Should be Consulted Upon All Questions Wherein They Were Effected—Conference Approved the Declaration of London, and Passed a Resolution Favoring It.

London.—The Imperial conference discussed the Declaration of London when Premier Botha favored the ratification as did Premier Morris of Newfoundland.

Sir Edward Grey said that generally the Dominions should be consulted. The determination that this would be done would be one of the most important results of the conference.

Premier Fisher withheld his resolution substituting another that the Dominions should be consulted when the government framed up instructions to British negotiators at The Hague conference upon questions affecting the Dominions. Similar procedure would be taken in other international agreements where possible.

The conference approved of the declaration of London and paved a resolution favoring its ratification. The declaration of London was adopted at the conference of the chief navy powers held in London from December, 1908, until February, 1909, on the rules of prize in naval warfare. The object was to draw up a definite code following the precedent of the Declaration of Paris, 1856, for the purpose of an international treaty, but this was established in accordance with one of the resolutions of the second Hague conference in 1907.

Washington.—"Less sensational, but more valuable perhaps than the ratification of the general arbitration treaty," was the comment of leading publishers here, on the action of the Imperial conference at London, favoring the ratification of the Declaration of London.

The resolution adopted by the conference was to draw up a definite code declaration, and place the British foreign office in a position to overcome the opposition, which has threatened the total failure of the effort to obtain an international agreement upon the rules of prize, at sea.

Work to Start This Year on H. B. Ry.

Winnipeg.—Construction will start this year on the Pacific, Peace River and Hudson's Bay railway from Fort Churchill to Port Simpson.

Surveyors will be out next week and every effort will be made to have the line in operation within the shortest possible time.

Montreal, New York, Toronto and Scottish capitalists have interested those of Western Canada in financing the project, and have all the required money available.

The Province Will Appeal Decision

Lethbridge.—Hon. A. J. McLean, provincial secretary, when in the city intimated that the government would likely appeal the decision of the supreme court in the case regarding the responsibility for the maintenance of roads and bridges over the irrigation canals of the C. P. R. in this province, and seek the decision of the privy council.

First Move in Hudson Bay Road

Calgary.—A statement for tenders for the first 185 miles on the Hudson Bay railway from the Pas, were sent out on June 1. Tenders must be submitted by August 1. It is expected that steel will be laid on nearly all of this half of the line by the Hudson Bay terminal next year.

J. J. HILL WILL QUIT SOON

The Veteran Railway Man Wants to Die With His Boots Off—Will Drop All His Interests.

Minneapolis.—James J. Hill, for half a century identified with the development of the north west as no other man has been, is preparing the way for retirement from active business life and the filing recently of the $60,000,000 mortgage on the Great Northern, in the first step, according to Mr. Hill's own statement.

He characterized recently as "rubbish" the stories of the Great Northern and Burlington consolidation and of the combining of the Northern Pacific and the Chicago and Northwestern for Chicago Great Western. "I am 73 years old and do not want to die with my boots on," Mr. Hill said. "My interests are large and cannot be dropped in a moment. If I am going to have any leisure in my life it is about time I had it and I have taken the first step towards securing it.

"Preparations for fifty years to come for the retirement of bonds now outstanding as they fall due and for other issues to provide money to keep up the road and build extensions and make improvements that we expect will have to be made, is the true reason for the mortgage.

ANOTHER WOMAN FARMER

Miss Helena Hill, of Seattle, Buys Section of Land Near Sedgewick

Calgary.—Miss Jack May, the young English woman farmer, who recently settled near Sedgewick, is to have a rival in her fascinating occupation in Alberta. Miss Helena Hill, a young girl from Seattle, has purchased a section of land from the C. P. R. near Sedgewick and is at present superintending the breaking and seeding of 640 acres to flax.

Miss Hill intends to go into farming on a large scale. Next year she will build a house and buy stock and implements and will bring the remainder of the 640 acres under cultivation. Her friend, Mrs. Hilliard, also of Seattle, will supervise her house and Miss Hill the "farm."

Kitchener Declines Post of Inspector

London.—It is understood that the post of inspector-general of the force which will be vacated in the autumn by Sir John French, has been offered to Lord Kitchener, and that Lord Kitchener has not seen his way to accept the appointment, which is, of course, wholly subordinate to the army council.

When the Duke of Connaught was inspector-general it was an open secret that his reports were seldom acted on.

It is not likely that Lord Kitchener will allow himself to be placed in a similarly false position.

Bank President Was Acquitted

Toronto.—Col. Munro, president of the defunct Farmers' Bank, was acquitted by Judge Winchester on the charge of wilfully and unlawfully making false and deceptive returns.

The judge held that the president was deceived by General Manager Wilkie and Chief Inspector Gibbons. He intimated that he would grant an appeal on a stated case.

Immigration Campaign in Russia

Calgary.—The advantages of Alberta farming will be set forth attractively in Russia by the C. P. R. Irrigation Colonization Company, with a view to attracting the best class of Russian peasant to imigrate to Canada. The C. P. R. Company has recently opened an office at Dalny, having secured quarters in the immigration building there, and has stationed a colonial agent and staff there.

"THE SELKIRK." THE NEW PALATIAL HOTEL OF THE GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC IN WINNIPEG.

The above is the plan which has been approved by the Grand Trunk Pacific management for the new hotel, which the company intends to erect in Winnipeg. This hotel, which in appearance and luxuriousness of appointments is to be the equal of the Chateau Laurier at Ottawa, will cost in round figures one million dollars. It will be situated on Broadway, near the Manitoba Club, and close to the new Union Station. It has been definitely decided to call the hotel "The Selkirk," which not only has the merit of being a highly distinctive and appropriate name, but also one which is historically associated with Winnipeg, and with the development of the West generally.

Messrs. Ross & MacFarlane, of Montreal, are the architects for the hotel. They are now working on the detailed plans, and construction is to commence forthwith. This hotel will be the first of a chain of similar hotels to be erected throughout the West by the company. The management has announced the purchase of a centrally situated site opposite the Edmonton Club on McDougall Avenue, Edmonton, for the erection in the near future of another large hotel. The company also has closed a deal by which it accures a very advantageous site for a new station to be erected in the City of Calgary.

IN FAVOR OF THE PACT

POLL OF U.S. NEWSPAPERS GIVES MAJORITY FOR RECIPROCITY

The Chicago Tribune Obtains the Opinion of Newspapers in Twenty-Two States on the Question of Approving the Reciprocity Agreement Negotiated by President Taft.

Chicago, Ill.—The Tribune publishes the results of a poll of newspapers in twenty-two states of the central, western and southwestern, northwestern and Pacific divisions on the question of approving of the reciprocity agreement negotiated with Canada by President Taft.

To more than 10,000 newspapers, representing every shade of political opinion, the Tribune submitted this question:

"Are you in favor of the approval by congress of the reciprocity agreement with Canada, negotiated by President Taft?"

The replies numbered 4,463, of which 4,230 were definite, even if qualified expressions of opinion. Of these 3,113 were in favor of the agreement and 1,127 against it, nearly a three to one vote for the policy advocated by President Taft.

The conclusion is plain, if not irresistible, that the country, at least the part of it included within the twenty-two states thus polled, welcomes the removal of the tariff between the United States and the Dominion.

The newspapers, daily and weekly, which give the verdict, are representative of land from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the Canadian border to the Gulf. They are safe guides to the sentiments of the localities in which they circulate. The vote by the papers outnumbers that daily in the proportion of eight to one, and it may be assumed safely that the poll is an expression of agricultural as well as urban sentiment.

In only one state was a majority against the agreement, that is North Dakota, where the vote was 46 to 42 in 122 against the proposition. The explanation was that North Dakota farmers fear the importation of agricultural products from across the border and the consequent effect on price of farm produce.

In Minnesota, of the editors who declared their political affiliation, 124 were Republicans and 18 Democrats; South Dakota 85 were Republicans and 15 Democrats. Taking other states at random the poll includes: 113 Illinois Republicans to 21 Democrats; 7 Kansas Republicans to 33 Democrats; 84 Ohio Republicans to 61 Democrats.

British Still Mistress of the Seas

London.—More than 170 British warships, from Dreadnoughts to submarines, eighteen foreign warships and sixty ocean liners and private yachts, will cover an area of about six square miles, according to an official chart issued by the admiralty recently for the Coronation review of the fleet off Spithead, June 24.

Marys of Empire Contribute Big Sum

London.—The Marys throughout the Empire have contributed $60,000 to the Queen's coronation gift. The donors range from beggar maids to duchesses, and the donations from halfpennies to pounds.

Vancouver Employers Satisfied.

Vancouver.—The Vancouver employers have formally replied to the Minister of Labor declining his offer to intervene in the threatened labor trouble.

WILL GO AHEAD WITH WORK

Surveys for the Location Will Start from Calgary Within Six Weeks

Calgary.—Within six weeks a general survey for the location of the Alberta Electric Railroad from Calgary to Banff, Medicine Hat, Lethbridge and Macleod, will be commenced according to the local manager George E. Wood, who emphatically denied the current rumor that the C.P.R. had made overtures with a view to gaining possession of the road.

The report was that the C. P. R. had got control of the charter, recently granted by the government, fearing serious opposition in transportation in the southern country, which the electric road owners thoroughly.

"We intend going straight ahead with the survey and construction of our lines as soon as we can," said Mr. Wood, who also made known that interest of employing power generated by water or gas, the road would be upgraded, in that it will be furnished with gasoline engines.

There are only four roads on the American continent operated by this means, and Mr. Wood says that a careful investigation has led the directors of the Alberta Electric to believe that this means of locomotion is the coming steam.

"The gasoline trains are made just like the ordinary trains with sleeping cars and dining cars," said Mr. Wood. "When they are in operation we shall have one of the most modern systems on the continent."

Should Dominions Be Consulted

London.—At the Imperial conference Premier Fisher, of Australia, said that the time had arrived when each state should be informed and have the right to confer. Britain entered into any arrangement of her own countries by which the interests of all were affected.

Sir Edward Grey said that consultation had been given the right to make their own treaties. It might embarrass any home government if it had to consult the dominions and if the dominions insisted it would imply that they should take part in that war. On the whole the matter had better be left entirely to the home government.

The declaration of London, which ruled the discussion, was an immense step in advance of the first step to bring arbitration between nations. Sir Joseph Ward and Dr. Findlay spoke in the same strain.

Alberta's Greatest Wealth May Be Asphalt.

Edmonton.—Representing $40,000,000 of British capital, J. H. Russell, mining engineer and expert, and formerly manager of two of the largest asphalt companies in Great Britain, left the City Saturday, in company with Mr. Voilette, of the Fort McKay Oil and Asphalt Co., on a trip of six weeks, investigating the mineral resources along the Athabasca. The object of the trip is to determine the exact extent of these resources and report to old country capitalists.

Mr. Voilette thinks that there is a certain bituminous limestone or rock that is found in this district, and it is the object of J. H. Russell to determine if this is deposit of asphalt rock, and if it is believed to be. If bituminous limestone is to be found in the quantities that will prove to be of Alberta's greatest asset, is the opinion of the investigators. Mr. Russell states that bituminous limestone is much more valuable as a paving substance than is pure asphalt.

Mapping Out the Rocky Mountains

Ottawa.—Dr. Reginald A. Daly, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Andrew C. Lawson, of the University of California, geologists of world-wide standing, have been engaged by the Canadian geological survey to do special research work this summer. Mr. Daly will take charge of a party which will begin the geological mapping of a cross-section of the Rocky Mountains following the main line of the Canadian Pacific railway, a task which will take two years to complete.

The first-cross-section along the international boundary line was completed in co-operation with the United States geologists all over the world as throwing light on some of the problems of modern geology. Geo. Dawson will investigate the rich geological surroundings of Lake Superior regions. Both are men well equipped with brilliant university educations.

Great Increase in Branch Banks

Toronto.—The surprising increase in the number of branch banks in Canada shown by a statement just issued is accounted for very largely by the growth of the west. The west now contains over 28 per cent. of the aggregate. In 1900 there were 38 banks in Montreal and forty in Toronto.

In the past years, Montreal increased to 81 and Toronto to 140. Some startling changes, which the ten year interval has brought about have been the location of 12 banks in Saskatoon where there was none in 1901, of 8 in Calgary where there were four at the opening of the decade, and sixteen in Edmonton where before there were two.

Will Look After Chinese Immigration

Ottawa.—An order-in-council has been passed transferring the control of the Chinese immigration and collection of the tax of $500, from the trade and commerce department to the immigration department. The change is in accordance with the recommendation of the royal commission which recently investigated the question of Chinese immigration at Vancouver.

Search for Victims of Windsor Fire

Nelson, B.C.—A search for the remains of those who perished in the Windsor hotel fire at Silverton has revealed traces of four human bodies. Two are known to be those of McTaggart and Robert Fairgrieve. The third is an unknown foreigner, and there is no clue as to the fourth. The remains consisted of a few charred bones only. It is possible that more than four perished.

Newsboy Was Honest.

London, Ont.—A London newsboy found an unmounted valuable diamond that had been lost from the bejewelled turban of the Maharajah of Indore, who is here for the coronation, and immediately took the gem to the police office. He will be liberally rewarded.

Premiers Honored

Glasgow.—The Glasgow university has conferred the degree of LL.D. upon Premier Laurier, of Canada; Premier Morris, of Newfoundland; Premier Botha, of South Africa, and other representatives of the overseas dominions.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON XI.—SECOND QUARTER, JUNE 11, 1911.

Text of the Lesson, II Chron. xxx, 13-27—Memory Verses, 18,22—Golden Text, I Sam. xvi, 7—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

This Hezekiah, whose name signifies "the strength of Jehovah," was one of the best kings that reigned over the kingdom of Judah. In the sixth year of his reign the king of Assyria carried the ten tribes into captivity, as we shall learn more fully in next week's lesson (II Kings xix, 10-12). The king of Assyria threatened to do to Judah as he had done to Israel and wrote a blasphemous letter which Hezekiah spread before the Lord, and he and the prophet Isaiah prayed and cried to heaven, and the Lord sent an angel who smote in one night 185,000 of the Assyrian army (II Kings xix, 35-37; Isaiah xxxvii 36-37).

Alas, the father of Hezekiah, had been very wicked. He worshipped other gods, cut in pieces the vessels of the house of God, shut up the doors of the house of the Lord and made him altars in every corner of Jerusalem and in the cities of Judah. Therefore the Lord did bring Judah low because of him (II Chron. xxviii, 19-25).

Hezekiah in the first month of the first year of his reign opened the doors of the house of the Lord and repaired them, and set the priests and Levites at work to cleanse the temple, which took them sixteen days. Then they offered sin offerings unto the Lord for all Israel and burnt offerings, and had a thank offering, and worshipped the Lord with gladness. "So the service of the house of the Lord was set in order, and Hezekiah rejoiced, and all the people, that God had prepared the people: for the thing was done suddenly" (chapter xxix, 3, 17, 24, 27, 31, 36).

The regular time to keep the Passover in the first month being past because of the late time of the cleansing of the temple, it was determined to keep it in the second month, as was permitted in the law (Num. ix, 9-11). Proclamation was therefore made throughout all Israel from Dan to Beersheba that they should come to keep the Passover unto the Lord God of Israel at Jerusalem, for it was a long time since the feast had been kept (verses 1-5). The last of which we have a record was in the days of Joshua, when at Gilgal they kept it upon entering the land (Josh. v, 10) Before that there is a record of only two Passovers, one in Egypt and one a year later at Sinai.

After the time of our lesson we have only a record of two more in the Old Testament, the great one of Josiah and the one in the days of Ezra at the dedication of the temple after the return from Babylon (II Chron. xxxv, 18; Ez. vi, 19-22). We can scarcely think that these were the only Passovers kept in all those years, but only ones recorded. If we include the one that the Lord Jesus so greatly desired to keep with his disciples (Luke xxii), then we have a record of just seven great Passovers. Of the reason for our own souls let us never forget the words, "When I see the blood I will pass over you." It was not the blood and something else, but simply and only the sight of the blood of the slain lamb that gave safety. See Lev. xvii, 11; Heb. ix, 22; Rev. i, 5, 6; v, 9, 10; vii, 14; Eph. i, 7.

Nothing can by any means add to the safety which is given by Christ Jesus, but because of it may the Lord grant us a great appetite for the things which he lived by the Father may we, eating Him, live by Him (John vi, 57). This call to Israel to turn to the Lord might truly be spoken of as a last call to the ten tribes, for years later they were carried captive by the king of Assyria. As the posts passed from city to city through Ephraim and Manasseh, even unto Zebulun, some laughed them to scorn and mocked them, but some humbled themseves and came to Jerusalem (verses 9, 10, 11). Verse 18 seems to teach that God can bless only those who are willing that He should lay His hand upon them for good.

Until He shall come again in power and glory we cannot expect anything different from Ahaz (2 Chron. xxvii, 24). "Some believed, and some believed not." Wheat and tares will grow together until the end of the age. Notwithstanding the rebellious ones a very great congregation assembled at Jerusalem to keep the Passover (verse 13). They destroyed the city of idolaters and killed the Passover and kept the feast not only for seven days, but so great was their joy because they had truly turned to the Lord and He had so blessed them that they kept the feast for another seven days. There was great joy in Jerusalem than had been since the days of Solomon.

Hezekiah spake comfortably or to the heart of all the Levites that taught the good knowledge of the Lord (verse 22, margin), and so he was greatly used of God in this revival The Bible is a heart book, from the heart of God to the hearts of His people (Isa. xl, 1, 2, margin), and if His word does not reach our hearts with comfort and strength we should pray. Give Thy servant a hearing heart" (1 Kings iii, margin). What a splendid record of this king is found in chapter xxxi, 20, 21. "He wrought that which was good and right and truth before the Lord his God. * * * He did it with all his heart and prospered."

Is Willing to Consider Arbitration

Berlin.—Count Von Reventlow asserts that Germany has consented to consider arbitration with the United States as the lesser evil, lest she be reproached with preferring war to peace. He adds that while the government, after a friendly consideration, will declare that it is unable to accept the principle unreservedly as it is better to reject at the outset than to conclude a treaty and then repudiate it.

Rout Out The Red Deer Hoboes

Red Deer, Alta.—Since the shooting of Chief of Police Bell here the railroad men and citizens generally have been routing out the camps of hoboes that have been making life miserable in the city and the C. P. R. box cars their resting place, with the result that about fifty were given marching orders.

Coronation Review

London.—The admiralty has issued an official chart of the coronation review of the fleet at Spithead on June 24. Within the positions covering eight square miles will be gathered 170 British warships, from dreadnoughts to submarines, eighteen foreign warships and about sixty ocean liners and yachts.

Fair Notes

$29,000 are offered in prizes and purses at the forthcoming Calgary Industrial Exhibition to be held at Calgary, June 30th to July 7th, and in addition to this, freight transportation is paid by the Exhibition Co. on all exhibits originating in Alberta. In addition to a splendid display of live stock and industrial exhibits, the best program of attractions ever seen in Canada west of Toronto has been provided, and it is expected that fully one hundred thousand visitors will attend the exhibition. Almost every one will be interested in the daily flights of Strobel's Aeroplane, and the demonstrations of the Mono-Rail Car, to say nothing of the fireworks, music and other attractions which are the best that money can secure.

Prize lists can be had on application to the manager, E. L. Richardson, Victoria Park, Calgary, and all entries close on June 15th.

Do not forget that entries for the Calgary Industrial Exhibition, to be held at Calgary, June 30th to July 7th, close on June 15th. Prize lists can be had by applying to the manager, E. L. Richardson, Victoria Park, Calgary.

One of the unique educational exhibits provided by the directors of the Exhibition, is a model 52 feet long of Brennon's Mono-Rail Car. This car will be operated on a cable 200 feet long, suspended in the air, and will be most interesting to every visitor who will be interested in seeing a car operate on one wheel at each end, all of the car being above the cable. Gravity is overcome by centrifugal force on the gyroscopic principle. This is one of the latest methods of transportation The car which the exhibition directors have secured at considerable expense was especially constructed for a recent exhibition of the Railway Appliances Association in Chicago.

The Mono-Rail car, with the latest model Aeroplane which has also been arranged for, will give visitors an opportunity of seeing the most up-to-date transportation facilities of the present day as well as other excellent features arranged for, including pictures of the Coronation.

The flights made by Strobel's airship at the Calgary Exhibition, 1908, undoubtedly created a sensation. The first appearance of the airship was on the 1st of July, when it headed the procession to the exhibition grounds. In 1908 the airship was a great novelty, but the latest means of transportation to-day is by mean of an aeroplane, or heavier than air machine. At a very great expense the directors of the Calgary Industrial Exhibition have arranged for flights of Strobel's Aeroplane twice daily for the forthcoming exhibition at Calgary, June 30th to July 7th.

Poultry Association Formed

At a meeting on May 27, the organization of the Womans' Institute and Poultry Association was completed and the following officers elected:—President, Mrs. J. A. McKenzie; Vice-President, Mrs. A. R. Laidlaw; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. F. H. Schettler; Domestic Science, Mrs. W. J. Elliott; Poultry, Mrs. Ashley; Art, Miss Seymour, Singing Improvement, Mrs. E. E. Zerkle; Social Mrs. F. T. McElhorst; Floral, Mrs. F. W. Schettler.

The next meeting will be held on June 10th, at the Town Hall, at 2.30.

The institute starts out with a membership of 20, and we hope to more than double that number as the society and its work becomes better known. Those who know much should come and give others the benefit of their knowledge, those who know little should come and learn, all may and can help. Our institute can become a success and a power for good if the ladies will put forth an effort to make it so. All are cordially invited to join us in the work of various departments.

Don't forget the date of next meeting, June 10th at 2.30, at Town Hall. An interesting paper will be read by Mrs. A. R. Laidlaw.

The above was unavoidably held over from last week.

Death of A. J. McArthur

After suffering from a severe attack of pneumonia for the last ten days, A. J. McArthur, M. P. for Gleichen, died on Monday morning at ten minutes past four. During the latter part of his last week Mr. McArthur's condition showed distinct signs of improvement, but on Sunday night he commenced to sink fast, and before midnight it was plainly seen that his end was very near. At the time of his death Mrs McArthur, his two little boys, his brother, J. J. P. McArthur, and three of his sisters were present, in addition to the doctors and one of the clergymen of the Baptist church.

The late Archibald James McArthur was born in the island of Iona, on the west coast of Scotland, in the year 1857, and was therefore 54 years of age at the time of his death. When he was a little more than two years old his parents came to Canada and settled in Bruce, Ont. Some 20 years ago Mr. McArthur came west and settled in Calgary, where he remained the rest of his life.

For the last few years of his residence here he was engaged in ranching, but he soon devoted himself entirely to the stock business. Since the city commenced to grow so fast some few years ago Mr. McArthur had ceased to take any active part in business. When the constituency of Gleichen became vacant last fall, Mr. McArthur came forward as the liberal candidate and was successful against E. H. Riley by 204 votes, winning the seat on October 4th.

Mr. McArthur was a constant attendant of the First Baptist Church. He was a quiet, reticent man, and loved and respected by all who knew him. He is survived by his wife and two little boys, F. P. McArthur and A. A. McArthur, aged six and seven respectively.

Council Meeting

A Meeting of Strathmore councillors was held in the Fire Hall on Monday evening. All the councillors were present, with Mr. H. J. Spicer, secretary treasurer.

A number of accounts were passed.

With regard to incorporation, it was stated that the matter was now under consideration by the government. There had been some disputes with the owners of land surrounding the town as to boundaries, and the government had agreed to send a man down to investigate, but this has not yet been done.

It would appear then, that all the local people can do is to await the pleasure of the government.

WATERING TROUGH AND OTHER IMPROVEMEMTS

It was agreed to put a watering trough in at the side of the Fire Hall, to be supplied from the well there, and also to put a row of hitching posts from the Fire Hall to the alley. The hitching posts and rings are to be removed from Second Street, as they constitute an impediment to traffic. Mr Waddy was appointed a committee to see that these improvements were carried out in the shortest possible time.

It was also decided to take action to have the obstructions at the bottom of Third Street removed immediately.

June 20th was selected as the date for the holding of the court of revision.
